A message from Zack Lilienfeld:

NJ-Licensed Home Inspector and Consulting Engineer

I believe my clients deserve the highest level of personal service and dedication. I am not a high-volume inspector, as I place an emphasis on performing a thorough and high quality inspection for my clients. The time I spend on your inspection (2 to 4 hours depending on size of home) and additional time spent researching and preparing your final report reflects this dedication to delivering a high-value inspection experience. Additionally, I encourage clients to accompany me on the day of the inspection, where I take the time to answer questions and allay concerns. And my service doesn't stop when your report is complete - I am always available and at your service.

Whether you are buying or selling a home, you can have the confidence knowing that an experienced, independent and highly ethical professional engineer with full home inspector credentials is behind every inspection. I appreciate the opportunity to serve you.
